MIDDLEBURY NINE EASILY TAKEN OVER IN WEEK-END GAMES

Rally in Ninth Too Late to Save 5-3 Beating From Clarkson

THREE HOMERS IN FIRST GAME HERE

Weak Pitching Gives 14-5 Game To Williams There

Although a belated rally in the ninth brought in three runs and saved Middlebury from a shutout, the Blue and White was unable to overcome the effects of a bad opening inning, and Clarkson won the first diamond game this season on Porter Field by a 5 to 3 score Friday afternoon. Ragged Middlebury fielding and an inability to take advantage of hits proved disastrous to the local team.

Clarkson drew first blood in the opening inning when Kempf hit to Kelly who threw low to first and allowed him to advance to second. O'Hare flied out, Haskell hit a fly to Rice in center field, and taking advantage of a lucky bound, stretched his rap into a home run, Kempf scoring ahead of him. Hasseltine began the game for Middlebury with a two-bagger and Sorenson followed up with a single, but the latter was caught off base, Novotny flied out, and Osborne went down on strikes.

In the second inning Middlebury filled the sacks with one out, only to fail of scoring when Simmons was retired on strikes and E. Hasseltine hit into a fielder's choice. Another attempt to tally in the third proved equally unsuccessful; with one out, Novotny took two bases on O'Hare's muffing of his fly, and went to third as Osborne fielded out, but there he remained while Haskell gathered in Anderson's infield fly.

Clarkson scored in the fifth when Haskell pounded out a clean home run to left field. With the exception of the fifth inning, Middlebury placed men on bases with every turn at bat, but failed of bringing in the desired tallies. Clarkson took two more in the sixth, making a total of five runs. A

MINNIE HAYDEN TO TEACH ONLY VOICE

Resigns Position As Dean Of Summer School Of Music

Miss Minnie Hayden, who since 1913 has been connected with the Summer Session of Middlebury College has resigned her position as Dean of the Summer Session School of Music in order that she may devote her full time to the voice work of the regular college.

Miss Hayden first came to Middlebury in the summer of 1913 to start a Voice School with the ultimate hope of reaching the Vermont school teachers and in that way raise the standards of singing throughout the state. In 1914 a department of platform art and Recital Repertoire was added under the direction of Miss Gladys Lott of Boston. In 1916 Miss Hayden added

D. U. ACCEPTS BID TO RE-ENTER INTER-FRATERNITY COUNCIL

Reorganization of Rules Gives Promise of Enforcement

A new set of rushing rules with real teeth in them insofar as enforcement of rushing regulations is concerned, and every Middlebury fraternity in the council are the outstanding accomplishments of the newly organized Interfraternity Council, which assumed office last week, and of which William H. Fales is president.

Realizing that the welfare of the student body demanded the co-operation and membership of every fraternity on the campus the newly elected members invited Delta Upsilon, which withdrew last spring, to rejoin the council at once and aid in the drawing up of the rules for the coming years. Inasmuch as the new council guaranteed satisfactory regulation and enforcement of rushing next fall the Middlebury Chapter of Delta Upsilon unanimously voted to re-enter the council, as their reason for withdrawing last spring was occasioned by a disagreement over rushing rules and enforcement.

Both steps are of a very progressive nature and indicate that the new Council means business. For the past number of years the question of rushing has been a prominent one and the regulations drawn up have not been enforced, principally because of lack of means of doing so.

Under the new rules a faculty tribunal of three members will meet and decide on all infractions of rules and each fraternity will post a bond of $170 to show their good faith in living up to the rules and in case of conviction will forfeit this bond in stipulated amounts in proportion to the offense.

The rules as now drawn up are as follows:

1. There shall be elected by the Interfraternity Council, a board of three Faculty Members to be known as the Faculty Advisory Board of the Inter-

M'CUTCHEON NAMED UNDERGRAD. PRES.

Whiting, Dix, Witt Elected To Hold Other Offices

Mervin W. McCutcheon '27 of New Britain, Conn., was elected president and Arthur St. J. Whiting '27 of Framingham, Mass., vice president of the Middlebury Undergraduate Association at a meeting held last night. Warren R. Witt '29 of Leominster, Mass., will serve as secretary of the organization for the coming year, and Carleton B. Dix '28 of Ashland, Mass., will be its treasurer.

Mr. McCutcheon, who won the office by a large majority has been active in dramatics, playing in many of the larger productions, and carrying the leading male role in the Junior Play, "Honor Bright". He is a member of the Sage honorary society and Chi Psi.

The vice president, Mr. Whiting, has been a member of the cross country and track squads and has served on various committees. He is a Sage and affiliated with the Delta Upsilon fraternity. Dix, who will look after the funds of the organization for the coming year is a member of the College band and was recently pledged to the Sage society. Witt, a freshman, has been showing up well on the cinder path, taking first place in the mile in the meet with M. A. C. He is a member of Beta Kappa fraternity.

Balloting for senior members of the Student Council resulted in the election of H. Hamilton Jones of Mount Kisco, N. Y., and William F. Fales, of Rockville Center, L. I. The junior members of the Council for the coming year will be Donald H. Penn of Bloomfield, N. J., and Rollins A. Furbush of Salem, Mass., E. Fay McLaughlin of Mineville, N. Y., was elected to the position of sophomore member of the Council.

Nominations for senior and junior members of the Athletic Council were made and elections will take place at t' next meeting of the body. The new officers will be installed at the same meeting.

MONSTER PROGRAM FOR JUNIOR WEEK OPENS TOMORROW

Many Original Features Included In Full Week-End

INFORMAL DANCE TO BE FIRST OF KIND

Freshman-Sophomore Rope Pull to Decide Class Supremacy

Spring will spring at Middlebury at 12:30 o'clock tomorrow when Junior Week will be ushered in. For three glorious days Middlebury students and their guests will dance, laugh and make merry and cast to utter oblivion the dull, spiritless, everyday existence which the world commonly considers the gay life of the college student. For three days the professors will wring their hair, if they may with feasibility, as they see their long painstaking efforts to place serious thoughts into the students' craniums, hopelessly and speedily nullified by a shake of bobbed hair, the flash of an eye and the alluring twinkle of feminine feet. It will be a period when the female of the species will prove stronger than the male and will evidence this by the fact that, even in such strenuous trying days, they can put serious thoughts in the most obtuse young man's fancy.

The program in full is printed elsewhere and incorporates all the best features of former years, and in addition is packed with events distinctly original with the class of 1927.

Opening with a double header athletic program tomorrow afternoon, consisting of the baseball match between Middlebury and her ancient rival Vermont on Porter Field at 2:30, and of the tennis match with the same foe on the Hepburn Courts at 3:00, the week will get off to a strong start. In the evening an informal dance, the first of its kind on a Junior Week program, will take place in the McCullough gymnasium. The combination of peppy music, and the first formal in several weeks should make this one of the most popular of the entire week's events.

Friday is to be a real red-letter day, featured throughout with fun galore.

FRATERNITY

The tumult and the shouting of interfraternity strife dies. It is with genuine pleasure and satisfaction that we look upon the re-organization of the Interfraternity Council with every Middlebury fraternity in and solidly behind it.

The past year has been one in which the undergraduate life and activities of the Men's College have come close to being wrecked on the rocks of narrow group prejudices. There have been times when it almost seemed that fraternities cuold not and did not offer a legitimate reason for their existence on our campus. If anything their actions in certain respects warranted the abolition of fraternities.

For several years it has been more or less evident that the Council has been a name more than a factor in student life. It has failed in some of its main purposes, such as the proper regulation and enforcement of rushing rules and the promotion of genuinely fraternal spirit among the groups.

Last spring matters came to a head when one fraternity made certain demands of the council. Because these were not met it withdrew in the support of a principle it considered of cardinal importance. The other fraternities held together under the guise of the Council for reasons which they held to be equally important, but the cohesion was not of the most mutual variety. The result has been deplorable in all of its details and has affected almost every phase of student activity this year. Which side was right, we do not attempt to say. Both had their good and bad points.

While none of us look upon war as the most enjoyable thing in the world we are forced to admit that it sometimes must be resorted to in bringing about a realization of the truth. That is just what has been accomplished during the past year. It has shown all too clearly the over emphasis of fraternities on the life here and the obvious selfishness and petty jealousies of certain groups. That alone is sufficient to explain the strained conditions of the past year and we feel that in spite of the highly unpleasant state of affairs that has existed it has been worth while.

Neither side has gained for itself alone any victory from this non-fraternal turmoil but the fraternities as a group have profited in a manner that cannot but be lasting. The new council is inter-fraternity in fact and in spirit and it is this second quality that will insure its stability and success. It has worked out a set of regulations that can be enforced—for lack of enforcement has been the weak point in the past.

The Campus congratulates the new Council on the remarkable progress it has made and is heartily behind it in everything that it does towards a promotion of cooperation and better feeling, as was outlined in our policies last week.

CONSIDERATION

With Junior Prom close upon us and a series of informals and tea dances to occupy our attention there comes to mind a disturbing thought. It is an idea which drops from a clear sky and is a constant menace to our social serenity—how do we treat our chaperones? Are they accorded all the privileges which accompany their station or are they politely shown to a corner, given a deck of cards or a magazine and placed about a table?

Too often do we regret that attentions are not properly paid the chaperones in a manner that is conducive to respect for the dances or places where they are guests. Too often do we sympathize with the chaperones in their plight, grin indulgently in our hurried movements, and dance quickly past their reserved corner—or in some cases avoid it completely. What type of human beings are we that entertain so ungratefully by isolation. We consider ourselves ladies and gentlemen, but for what reasons?

As one professor, greatly respected in the classroom but almost ignored at a dance tells us "We arrive at a dance. Somebody takes our wraps, escorts us to some out of the way corner, politely sets us down, shows us a table with a box of candy, some magazines and a deck of cards on it. The first few to arrive at the dance introduce themselves to us, but very rarely do the men introduce their feminine guests. Those who arrive later pay no attention to us and we are left to ourselves until the taxi comes after the dance, whereupon we are again escorted." The sad part is that these words are true in every respect.

Cannot Middlebury men and women be convinced of the fact that chaperones are human beings like themselves? Cannot they forget the apparent selfishness attendant upon their relations with their partners? Cannot the entertainers shower their chaperones with the few small courtesies, which are rightfully theirs?

We hope that the future will bring about a reversal of form in order that our chaperones may praise our hosts instead of serving in silence as they now do.

"MAY WE HAVE THE PLEASURE——"

Of wishing every variety of fun and enjoyment during these next three days when Middlebury and the Class of 1927 holds forth for your approval and entertainment in its greatest and most spectacular series of social events of the year?

After a long winter and equally frigid spring it is with exhuberant spirits that we anticipate the coming period of frivolity and mental resusciation. A program of pleasing variety and balance has been arranged by the Junior Week Committee. We hope for your participation in all of these functions for after all no Junior Week is a real one unless there is something to whisper about afterwards.

Our gymnasium, transformed from a mere man's gym into a splendidly decorated ballroom awaits your presence as the orchestra looks for the flash in your eyes before striking up the next number. Our campus in all its vernal grandeur beckons you to the outdoor activities and the playhouse holds a dramatic charm for the lovers of the stage.

To our guests, who have occasioned this affair, we extend the happiness that can come only to prom guest. It is yours to do with as you like and we know that this will be one of the crowning week-ends in your life.

BOWDOIN COMMENTS

The Bowdoin Orient in its current issue comments very commendably on the recent editorial in the Campus on "Gullible Greeks". After a brief presentation of the editorial the Orient aptly remarks:

"We can say nothing as to conditions at Middlebury. These conditions exist to some extent at Bowdoin, but no more than is to be expected with the acceptance of the fraternity system. But especially noteworthy is the suggestion of the Campus that fraternities set aside nights when everyone and anyone is invited in. This is a suggestion that Bowdoin men might heed. The present system of having lower classmen live in the dormitories is very helpful in bringing about close friendships between men of different groups. It would, however, be very much worth while if the custom of visiting between the different houses was practised to a much greater extent than at present, in order that the men of fraternities and of the non-fraternity group might come to know each other more intimately."

Because of lack of space the results of the prohibition poll have been held over for a later issue of the Campus.

PLANS READY FOR SAGE CUP MEET

Preliminaries and Semi-Finals To Be Run Off Friday

The plans for the Interfraternity Track Meet as announced this morning by Coach Reigelman call for the preliminaries of the 220 yard dash on Thursday afternoon and the running off of the preliminaries and semi-finals in other events Friday with the finals Saturday.

The complete program for the meet is as follows:

The Sage Cup which will be presented to the winner is on display at Calvi's.

Thursday afternoon at 1:30 p. m. sharp—Preliminaries of 220 yard dash.

Friday afternoon after baseball game: Semi-Finals of 220 yard dash; Preliminaries of 100 yard dash; Preliminaries of relay.

Saturday afternoon, 2:30 p. m.—100 yard dash finals; 220 yard dash finals; Interfraternity relay finals; broad jump high jump.

Substitutions may be made before preliminary races. The first two participants in each trial heat will be qualified to enter the Finals or Semi-Finals. The first four places in each Final event will count toward scoring as follows: 1st, 5 pts.; 2nd, 3 pts.; 3rd, 2 pts.; 4th, 1 pt. All races will start on time, and men coming late will be disqualified.

Beck of N. Y. Exchange To Speak Here Tomorrow

The Vocational Committee was fortunate in securing for the first day of Junior Week Cameron Beck of the New York Stock Exchange. Mr. Beck is widely known as a "whizz" of a speaker, and in his lecture will present some of the work of the Stock Exchange with reference to the Personnel Department and its problems. Mr. Beck heads the Personnel Directorship of the Exchange, and interviews with the assistance of his staff over 10,000 persons annually to fill the 947 positions connected with the Exchange. He recommends for positions individuals classed under sixty various vocations from Bench Boys and Building Managers to Plumbers and Publicity Directors. From this can be seen Mr. Beck's wide and varied knowledge of life. He will probably give one of the most interesting lectures of the year.

Frosh Women's Tennis Championship Match To Be Played Off Soon

The tennis championship of the freshman class will be decided this week when Frances Spear and Rose Marchiano clash on the courts. It is expected that the match will be a strongly contested one, for both girls made an excellent showing in the tournament last fall. Miss Spear and Miss Marchiano are members of Alpha Xi Delta. Miss Spear is the freshman representative on the Student Council, and Miss Marchiano has been captain of the girls' basketball team.

GLEE CLUB CLOSES SUCCESSFUL YEAR

Organization Makes Enviable Record; Much Credit Due Larsen and Bonney

The Men's Glee Club, returning from its third and final trip of the season last Friday, has succeeded in making itself one of the most successful activities of the college year. For the third time it was everywhere credited as being an organization of exceptional merit.

Tuesday evening the Club appeared before a large audience in Parker Hall, Keene Normal School, Keene, N. H., and Wednesday evening under the auspices of the Men's Club of the First Baptist Church, New Britain, Conn. On the return trip stop-over was made at Springfield, Mass., where the Club appeared Thursday evening as a feature of the Ladies' Night Banquet of the Unitarian Laymen's League at the Clinton Hotel. Return to Middlebury was made Friday. As the season is brought to a close special mention should be made of Professors Larsen and Bonney, through whose untiring efforts such a creditable organization has been able to represent the college.

BIG WEEK-END FOR MIDD. SPORT FANS

Baseball, Tennis, Track Men To Meet With Strong Opposition

Middlebury's athletic teams face a busy week-end in three different branches as part of the Junior Week program. The Blue and White baseball and tennis teams will meet the same teams from Vermont here tomorrow afternoon and on Friday Tufts will be the opponent in these two sports. Saturday the track team will go to Schenectady where it will face the strong Union team and the baseball team will go to Winooski to play its first game of the season with St. Michael's.

The Vermont game on Thursday will be of secondary importance and Coach Klevenow is not greatly worried over the showing his men will make against the Green and Gold in the first tilt of the season. Vermont has had a fairly poor season, having won but one of the games of their southern trip and last Saturday lost to the Norwich cadets by a 6-4 score. Either Lankes or Simmons will start against Vermont tomorrow.

The Tufts game on Friday promises to be one of the important contests of the season as the Jumbo nine stands out as one of the leading New England combinations. The Brown and Blue have won eight of their thirteen games, including a win over Yale. Williams and Bossert will be used against Tufts. The game on Saturday will probably be harder than usual as St. Mike's has shown fair ability in their games this season and Middlebury will be weakened in the pitching department by the games on the previous days.

Vermont would appear to have an edge on the Middlebury net men as the Vermont team won over Boston University and the B.U. team in turn drubbed Middlebury. However, Captain Hickcox has been holding practise on the Burlington courts and has been able to size up his Green and Gold opponents. In tennis Tufts has won their first game from Boston University 5-1.

In all probability Middlebury will run her hardest meet of the season on Saturday against Union for the marks set by Union thus far in their meets have surpassed those set by the Blue and White team in their meet with M. A. C. Coach Brown is training his men carefully for this meet and every one of the runners will be in the best of condition.

a course in Public School Music. In 1918 a course of Harmony, Piano and Organ was added under Harris Shaw of Boston. In 1920 Professor Hathaway took charge of the Piano and Organ department. In 1921 Prof. Larsen opened a department for Violin, 'Cello and Orchestral Music and Miss Hayden was made Dean of the Summer Session.

In the summer of 1921 Dr. Collins, then Acting President of Middlebury College and Director of the Summer Session, invited Miss Hayden to come to Middlebury and open a course of Voice work in the Music Department of the College and her work began in September of that year. This work has opened up such splendid possibilities in the Music Department and is reaching Vermont students so much more than the Summer Session work could possibly do, that Miss Hayden feels the results will be much greater if she gives all of her time to the College year and spends her summers in preparing and broadening the work for the coming year.

Kappa Delta Rho Formal

A joyful evening was spent at the Playhouse Saturday when Alpha Chapter of Kappa Delta Rho held its annual formal dance. About forty couples enjoyed the delightful music furnished by Gruggel's Serenaders. Blue and orange, the fraternity colors, predominated in the decorations, which were in the form of an attractive canopy over the dancers. Refreshments were served at intermission.

The patrons and patronesses were Professor W. E. Davison, Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Fritz, Mrs. Kate Holbrook, Mrs. Maud O. Mason, and Mrs. Alice Cutting. Representatives from other fraternities included John E. Connelly, Chi Psi; Walter A. Potter, Delta Kappa Epsilon; John S. Dinkel, Sigma Phi Epsilon; J. Newton Perrin, Beta Kappa; Joseph C. Novotny, Alpha Sigma Phi; Charles P. Vorce, Delta Sigma, and Harold E. Downey.

INTERCLASS MEET GOES TO FRESHMEN

First Year Men Show Up Well Against Many Veterans

With a lead of 19 points over the sophomores, their runners-up, the freshmen ran away with the interclass track meet on Porter Field Saturday afternoon by a score of 61 1-2. The sophomores piled up only 41 1-2 points, while the class of '26 came third with 34, and the juniors trailed with 25.

"Gil" Smith, '29, running in a strong wind, was clocked in the 100 yard dash at 10.1 seconds, a new college record if it is allowed to stand. Two timers agreed on this, while the third had 10 seconds flat as the time. Smith also romped away from the field in the 220, the dash whose record he broke last week.

A few of the finals in the M. A. C. dual meet were reversed when ineligibility rules were removed and all men in college allowed to participate in the meet. In the high hurdles Sherman '29, distanced all competition and was timed at 17.2 seconds. In the dual meet last Saturday 18.4 was the time for Thompson, the M. A. C. winner.

In other events, too, frosh showed up decidedly well when placed against varsity competition. Prospects for a strong cinder team in 1927 look exceedingly bright, with so many men ready to report for work as soon as one-year ineligibility rules have been satisfied.

The summary follows:

Mile run—Won by Witt '29; second, Donald '28; third, Robinson '26; fourth, Stoughton '27. Time, 4m.56.4s.

440 yard dash—won by Burrows '29; second, Arnold '28; third, Cornell '28; fourth, Kramer '29. Time, 54.8s.

100 yard dash—won by Smith '29; second, Adams '27; third, Brooks '28; fourth, Fales '27. Time, 10.1s.

120 high hurdles—won by Sherman '29; second, Schaefer '26; third, Roberts '27; fourth, Gollnick '28. Time 17.2s.

Two mile run—won by Kelley '26; second, Butler '29; third, Shean '29; no fourth. Time, 11m.14.2s.

880 yard dash—won by Arnold '28; second, Farnham '29; third, Donald '28; fourth, Witt '29. Time, 2m.15.9s.

220 yard low hurdles—won by Blanchett '28; second, Sherman '29; third, Gollnick '28; fourth, Brooks '28. Time 29.9s.

Shot put—won by Potter '26; second, McLaughlin '26; third, Schmidt '29; fourth, Whittemore '28. Distance, 38 ft. 8in.

Pole vault—won by Hinman '28; tie for second and third, Tomlinson and Williams, '29; no fourth. Height, 9 ft. 6in.

Discus throw—won by Potter '26; second, Crawford '28; third, McLaughlin '26; fourth, Davis '27. Distance, 107ft.

High jump—won by Roberts '27; second, Sherman '29; third, Gee '28 and Spooner '29, tie. Height, 5ft. 5in.

Junior Week Starts Tomorrow Noon

From the Interfraternity Stunts at 10 a. m. at the Opera House through the second afternoon of concentrated sport, made up of the baseball game with Tufts and the tennis match with the same Jumbo warriors, and continuing through into the Junior Prom, the hours will be packed to the utmost with thrills and excitement.

The Junior Prom itself, the heart of the holidays, bids fair to be one of the outstanding social events of recent years. Good music, furnished by the famous Cinderella Ballroom Orchestra of New Haven; orders of a sort that are a distinct novelty at Middlebury functions; refreshments of the type that made last year's Senior Ball justly famous, and decorations on a wholly new and unique scheme, will all sum up into a dance to be long remembered by those so fortunate as to attend.

Saturday, the last of the big days, is scheduled to be in many ways the best. A band concert, by the college organization that has already earned laurels away from home, will start the day off with a rush. Then a rope pull, which will be far the most unusual of its kind in recent years will take place at the hydrant behind Old Chapel. The outcome of this event will determine whether or not the frosh shall wear their caps for the rest of the year. Following this comes the departmental tour for the benefit of the visitors. In the afternoon is offered a combination program such as has never before been attempted here. A track meet and a matinee of the Junior Play will provide entertainment for persons of widely differing tastes. The track meet, between the Fraternities promises to be a stellar attraction and the play has already, in out of town performances, proved itself one of the most entertaining and best acted pieces ever presented at Middlebury.

The evening has for its biggest feature the night performance of that same play "Honor Bright" at the Playhouse on Weybridge street, and following that will come the traditional Interfraternity Sing on the steps of Mead Memorial Chapel.

The week will officially close with the Sorority Sing at seven o'clock Sunday night at Pearson's hall, a fitting end to a week of merriment.

In case of rain arrangements have been made for a tea dance in the Playhouse Friday afternoon.

A probable extra event, not on the official program of the week, but one long looked forward to by the Junior Class, will be the practically assured presentation of the first number of the Black Panther Kaleidoscope at some event of the week-end. The book is promised for delivery at Middlebury on the 12th or 13th, and has incorporated into it many features which have hitherto never been present in a Middlebury Annual.

Many acceptances have been received from the invitations sent to approximately ninety selected guests from preparatory schools, and plans are all completed for giving them the maximum of enjoyment during their visit to Middlebury.

Granted good weather the success of Junior Week should be stupendous and the infinite pains which have gone into every step of the detailed planning assures in any event a three-day festival fully equal to any like event of recent years.

BAKER GIVES BRIEF SURVEY OF DRAMA

Changes in Theatre Open Field to the College Graduate

Dr. George Pierce Baker, founder of the 47 Workshop at Harvard University and now director of the School of the Drama at Yale University addressed the student body of Middlebury at the Chapel services Saturday morning on the subject of "The Theatre as a Profession."

Dr. Baker declared that while mere instruction in the rules and principles of the stage is important it is of secondary interest and that what is really essential for success in the theatre is practice and application of the laboratory method under observation together with tact, cooperation, thoroughness and promptness. He brought out the fact that a person might possess any one or a number of these qualities but that unless he possessed all of them in a well balanced amount he would not make a great success of his life in theatrical lines.

In giving a brief survey of the drama of former generations, Dr. Baker emphasized the remarkable changes that had come about during the past fifty years. He attributed this change to Augustus Thomas, Arthur Pinero, Henry Arthur Jones and Clyde Fitch who departed from the idea of taking what was wanted and presenting it in the way it was wanted, as was the conventional manner of doing things until their time. The role of the playwright has become of increasingly more importance in the production of a play, whereas it was formerly thought that he knew nothing about the actual presentation of his piece. The changes in the theatre he said, have been brought about by a constant repression, and in some cases suppression of the old ideas and by allowing the new generation to assert itself in stage experiments.

The variety and type of plays that are produced today demand training and background, the speaker declared, and every branch of the theatre from the leading character to the lowly "scenic artist" has become a profession. Until the start of the current century the plays were of the lead type where only one or two real actors were needed to put the piece across and the stage settings were conventional and took no real artistic ability to conceive. All this has been changed by the ensemble type of play in which every one must be an artist in his or her line and must have professional training and understanding.

Dr. Baker took up in some detail the various departments of the theatre and told of the work involved. In closing he very strongly advised his audience not to go into theatrical work if they could possibly keep out of it, or if they could be happy in doing other things, because the competition is intense in comparison with the opportunities that are opening up. He admitted, however, that there is a genuine opportunity for college men and women who can adjust themselves to present conditions and who at the same time can develop themselves by an understanding of the past and a vision of the future.

Blue Baboon to Put In Appearance Junior Week

Among the features of Junior Week will be the appearance of the Blue Baboon in all the vernal garb of the occasion. The comic has been ready for distribution for the past week but the Board felt that as long as much of the material was in keeping with Junior Week and Prom that it would be advisable to hold up its appearance until this week. The new issue contains au unusually large number of cuts and has a very attractive three color cover. This is the last issue that will be published by the present staff.

Middlebury Netmen Lose First Home Match to B. U.

In a high wind that made good tennis almost impossible, Boston University's net team defeated Middlebury 5 to 1 Saturday on the Hepburn courts. By their victory the visitors, after having lost to Vermont 3 to 2 on the previous day, rather upset all advance predictions.

With the exception of Seymour, a new man on the Panther's team this season, the local players seemed to have hit a bad slump. Captain "Eddy" Hickcox gave his opponent, Young, a hard battle but was finally forced to give way to the Boston man. Hickcox and Seymour proved the combination that took Middlebury's only set, a doubles with Young and Hill of B. U.

'24—Erminie Ostiguy was elected a teacher of French in the Rutland High School to succeed Janet Keach, '22, resigned.

Middlebury Loses Week-End Games

single by Jenkins was materially aided toward scoring when two chances for put-outs had to be scored as field's choices which did not retire runners. Jenkins came home on Wheeler's sacrifice fly to left, and Sayre scored on a passed ball.

In the eighth Lankes relieved Simmons on the mound. Sayre found him for a double in that inning and in the ninth Pfleeger led off for the visitors by taking a walk, but no more runs were put into the books for Clarkson.

E. Hasseltine started the last-hope rally for Middlebury when, in the ninth, with one out, he pushed a home run into left field. Marchaukatis, batting for Sorenson, rapped off a dozen fouls, then walked, and Novotny took two bases when Bucher juggled his fly to left. A fast drive by Osborne brought in Middlebury's concluding runs. Anderson went down on strikes and Rice flied out to O'Hare.

Ten runs pounded out of the offerings of "Frosty" Williams in the first two innings gave Williams College an unbeatable lead Saturday in Middlebury's 14-5 defeat at Williamstown. Bossert, a freshman, replacing Williams in the third was able to hold the victors to but four more runs.

Middlebury found Popham in the fifth for five runs, but the hostile tally was too great to be disputed. The hitting of Hasseltine was the feature of the rather poor showing of the Blue and White.
